

IVY TECH COMMUNITY COLLEGE
VALPARAISO/MICHIGAN CITY CAMPUS

Commencement Ceremony

CLASS OF 2024

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses, income, and any other financial activities. The document provides a detailed explanation of how to categorize these transactions and how to use a double-entry system to ensure that the books balance. It also discusses the importance of regular reconciliations to identify and correct any errors or discrepancies as soon as possible.

The second part of the document focuses on the practical aspects of bookkeeping. It provides a step-by-step guide to setting up a chart of accounts, which is a list of all the accounts used in the business. This chart is essential for organizing the financial data and for generating meaningful financial statements. The document also discusses the importance of using a consistent and logical numbering system for the accounts to facilitate easy reference and reporting.

In addition, the document covers the process of recording transactions in the general ledger. It explains how to use journal entries to record each transaction and how to post these entries to the appropriate T-accounts in the ledger. The document also discusses the importance of maintaining a clear and organized ledger, with separate pages for each account and a clear separation between debits and credits. This organization is crucial for efficient bookkeeping and for the accurate preparation of financial statements.

The final part of the document discusses the preparation of financial statements. It explains how to use the data from the ledger to generate the income statement, balance sheet, and statement of cash flows. The document provides a detailed explanation of the components of each statement and how they are related to each other. It also discusses the importance of reviewing these statements regularly to assess the financial health of the business and to make informed decisions about future operations.

HISTORY OF COMMENCEMENT

The commencement ceremony is an ancient one, rich in tradition. The first commencement ceremonies were held by European universities in the Middle Ages. These ceremonies signified that the graduates were recognized by their professions and were ready to begin, or commence, teaching. Today, the ceremony formally recognizes academic achievement and officially confers on successful candidates the appropriate degree or certificate earned by satisfactory completion of a required course of study.

MUSIC

For generations, Pomp and Circumstance has been played for the commencement procession. The audience stands during the procession, remains standing for the National Anthem, and stands again for the recession.

CONDUCT OF GRADUATES AND AUDIENCE

A commencement ceremony is a formal and dignified occasion. Graduates and audience members are expected to conduct themselves in an appropriate manner. Cheers and applause for individual graduates should be held until all graduates have crossed the stage.

REGALIA

THE ACADEMIC GOWN

The academic costume worn in American college commencement exercises today goes back to the commencement ceremonies of the Middle Ages. The oldest universities of northern Europe grew out of church schools. Both faculty and students were regarded as a part of the clergy. Hence, they wore clerical garb borrowed from the monastic dress of their day, not merely on special occasions, but as their regular costume. The gown is derived from the medieval robe, borrowed from the habit of the Benedictine monks.

In the Middle Ages undergraduates, bachelors, and masters could be distinguished by the simplicity or the elaborateness of their gowns. This survives today in the cut of bachelor, master, and doctoral gowns and in the ornamentation found on doctoral gowns. The wide velvet borders extending down the front of the doctoral gown, the velvet bars on the sleeves, and the borders of most hoods are colored according to the scholarly field of the wearer. For example, for nursing the color is peach, for business the color is brown and for engineering the color is blue.

Ivy Tech Community College associate degree and certificate candidates wear traditional black academic gowns. Wearing a corsage or jewelry on an academic gown is considered inappropriate. Instead, family and friends sometimes present a graduate with flowers or another small keepsake after the commencement ceremony.

THE HOOD

The hood was originally a covering worn over the head in bad weather, and otherwise dropped onto the shoulders like the monk's cowl. At first the hood was worn by faculty and students alike. In the early 16th century, it was restricted to graduates. Thus the hood came to be the mark of a degree holder. Today each college has its own distinctively colored hood lining by which its graduates may be recognized in academic processions.

THE MORTARBOARD AND TASSEL

The head covering evolved from the skullcap worn by medieval clergy in cold weather to protect their tonsured (shaven) heads. In the universities, this skullcap acquired a point on top, which evolved into a tassel. The bonnet with tassel is still worn by degree-holders of the European universities.

In the United States, the bonnet has been largely replaced by the cap with mortarboard, which still retains the tassel. The cap is worn so that the mortarboard is level. The tassel is allowed to hang naturally. Candidates for a degree or certificate wear the tassel over the right temple; once the diploma is conferred, the tassel is moved to the left temple.

As is tradition at Ivy Tech Community College, the color of the tassel differentiates the degree or certificate conferred. Associate degree candidates wear a green tassel, technical certificate candidates wear white, and gray is worn by certificate candidates. Phi Theta Kappa students will wear white or green tassels, which correspond to technical certificate and associate degree, respectively.

DEGREES AND CERTIFICATES

The following seven degrees and certificates are awarded by the College to students who meet graduation requirements:

- Associate of Arts (AA)
- Associate of General Studies (AGS)
- Associate of Fine Arts (AFA)
- Associate of Science (AS)
- Associate of Applied Science (AAS)
- Technical Certificate (TC)
- Certificate (CT)

ACADEMIC & VETERANS HONORS

Honors are determined by grade point average (GPA). Those with a cumulative GPA of 4.0 graduate Summa Cum Laude (highest honors). Those with a cumulative GPA of 3.75 to 3.99 graduate Magna Cum Laude (high honors) and those with a GPA of 3.5 to 3.74 graduate Cum Laude (with honors). Honors graduates of the College wear the gold honors cord draped over the neck.

Members of honor societies such as Phi Theta Kappa may also wear a wide, gold satin stole draped over the neck.

Red, white, and blue cords designate our veterans.
